

Johor starts rapid bus transit system to boost public transport use

By VENESA DEVI

NATION

Friday, 09 Apr 2021

I am so proud that this system will be able to provide convenience to the users.

ISKANDAR PUTERI: The Iskandar Malaysia Bus Rapid Transit (IMBRT) system is expected to encourage the use of public transport among the people here, says Johor Menteri Besar, Datuk Hasni Mohammad (pic).

He said apart from using green technology and a practical ticketing system, IMBRT also priorities safety and comfort.

“We know there are things to improve when it comes to public transportation here, be it the Muafakat Johor Bus or other existing public transportation.

“Those issues have been taken into consideration by the state government when developing IMBRT.

“This includes punctuality, quality, safety and the price of its tickets,” he said after launching IMBRT’s pilot project here yesterday.

Hasni added BRT ticket prices will be at an affordable level to encourage more people to use public transportation.

ISKANDAR PUTERI: The Iskandar Malaysia Bus Rapid Transit (IMBRT) system is expected to encourage the use of public transport among the people here, says Johor Menteri Besar, Datuk Hasni Mohammad (pic).

He said apart from using green technology and a practical ticketing system, IMBRT also priorities safety and comfort.

“We know there are things to improve when it comes to public transportation here, be it the Muafakat Johor Bus or other existing public transportation.

“Those issues have been taken into consideration by the state government when developing IMBRT.

“This includes punctuality, quality, safety and the price of its tickets,” he said after launching IMBRT’s pilot project here yesterday.

Hasni added BRT ticket prices will be at an affordable level to encourage more people to use public transportation.